Summary

I am a versatile professional with a background in seafaring and IT. Previously worked as an IT staff for a Quadruple A construction company in the Philippines, where my responsibilities included ensuring accurate weekly payments for workers by efficiently extracting, analyzing, and encoding biometric attendance data. I also played a pivotal role in the implementation of a third-party automated payroll system across various construction sites.

I am presently dedicated to honing my skills in HTML, CSS, and the MERN stack, with the goal of becoming a highly proficient software developer. I am actively on the lookout for fresh opportunities within the software development field and am eager to apply my acquired skills to build a rewarding and prosperous career in this dynamic industry.
